

RIOTING SPREADS IN INDIA;
BULETS AND STONES FLY
FREELY—ONE GANDHI FOL-LOWER KILLED AND MANY INJURED AS FORCES OF LAW AND ORDER CLASH WITH PROFESSORS OF DISOBEDI-ENCE

Across India's thousand-mile stretch today spread riot and street battle. One follower of Gandhi, the Mahatma who seeks for India the status of a nation, was killed and scores of mob-men were injured. From Karachi, looking out on the Arabian Sea from the far west, to Calcutta, nestled at the delta mouth of the Ganges on Bengal Bay in the extreme east, bullets and stones flew freely.

Blows from staves and injuries from rough handling on the cobble roads of Karachi brought death to one of a mob who had stormed the magistrate's court. Two of seven seriously injured in the exchanges lay near death in hospital and 21 others were slightly hurt. The mob was dispersed when police fired into the crowd and hampered out with their staves. Two European sergeants were hurt.

Arrest of Leaders
The gathering originated when six leaders of the all-India National Congress were arrested and charged in court with participating in Gandhi's civil disobedience campaign. At the same time, books, flags and signboards were seized in raids on Nationalist printing offices. Dock laborers and sweepers went on strike in protest against the arrests.

As dawn crept up from Bengal Bay, riots reigned in Calcutta, where riots had been rampant yesterday. Fifty clashes, which finally ended hours after midnight in a futile attack on the presidency. Twenty rioters were arrested, nine of them found on horseback armed with bricks and stones.

Wrecked street cars lay idle in the streets as workers went to their labor today. Broken windows, shattered gates and torn down fences were prominent in the downtown section. The streets were littered with debris. Nine Europeans, including two women are being given hospital attention, seriously injured. One native is also in grave condition following the night's affray.

BRITAIN WILL NOTE FLEETS OF CONTINENT—HON. PHILIP
SNOWDEN EXPLAINS SAFE-GUARDING CLAUSE IN THREE-POWER PACT

London, April 17.—(A.P.)—Hon. Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, announced in the house of commons today that the so-called "safeguarding clause" in the three-power naval treaty would not be aimed at any special fleet or combination of fleets.

The clause is that which will give Britain the right to abrogate the limitation treaty figures if a continental building program should develop.

Snowden's announcement was in answer to a question of Commander Kenworthy, who asked whether in discussion of the safeguarding clause the strength of the French and Italian navies in combination was being considered.

Singapore Base
Rt. Hon. A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, answering a common question regarding the Singapore naval base, said the situation there would require a careful review "in the light of the treaty which we are hoping will be signed shortly by all the powers represented at the naval conference."

The review, he said, would be undertaken with as little delay as possible and in full consultation with the overseas governments of the British commonwealth concerned.

He had been asked if it was proposed to proceed with the new Singapore naval base in view of the recent conclusions of a three-power naval limitation treaty.

MACLEOD HIGHS DEFEAT KNOX BIG BROTHERS (LETHBRIDGE) IN FIRST BASEBALL OF SEASON
The first game of the baseball season was played on the Macleod diamond on Wednesday afternoon when the Macleod "Highs" set a dazzling pace to defeat the Lethbridge Knox Big Brothers in a thrilling game, resulting in a win for the home boys, 6-4.

There was a lack of excitement till the closing stanza when the Macleod Highs' well known hurler, Clive Burrows, amazed the crowd with his superb control and largely accounted for the Macleod boys' win.

Robinson, the Lethbridge pitcher played a great game, and this boy has a future ahead of him. Each team showed apparent want of practice, but as the season advances both teams should provide some thrilling games to the baseball fans.

The Macleod Highs will invade the Lethbridge diamond on Saturday afternoon. Harold Tolley umpired the game to the evident satisfaction of all.

CURIOUS

A dear old lady had attended a health lecture, and stayed behind to ask the lecturer a question.

"Did I understand you to say," she asked, "that deep breathing kills microbes?"

"I certainly did say that many microbes are killed by deep breathing," replied the lecturer.

"Then can you tell me, please," she asked, "how you can teach the microbes to breathe deeply?"

MY WISH

I wish I owned a cottage.
That stood upon a hill,
With lots of red geraniums
In pots along the sill.

A cottage that would face the sea,
Surrounded by a wall,
Where I could see the sunsets
And hear the sea gulls call.

A garden filled with lovely flowers,
With trees, some great, some small,
And herbs that own the healing
Balm.

With scents that never pall.
If I could have my wish,
How happy I would be,
With my cottage and geraniums,
The sunsets and the sea.

TRIUMPH FOR ANGLO-SAXONS
—SUCH IS VIEW OF NAVAL
PARLEY TAKEN BY SPANISH
NEWSPAPER

Madrid, April 16.—"El Debate" in an editorial on the naval conference today said the parley was a complete failure as far as the European powers were concerned, but was a political triumph for the Anglo-Saxons. It declares that the latter powers were trying to stabilize the world with "Pax Britannica" beliefs.

"El Debate" declares that it does not think the Latin nations are entirely responsible for the discord, but blames "Anglo-Saxon egotism" in equal measure. At the same time it warns Spain to be ever vigilant and never to consent to being compromised by any power.

SONGS OLD AND NEW WILL BE HEARD IN "NO, NO, NANETTE"—FAVORITES OF STAGE VERSION AUGMENTED BY SPECIALLY WRITTEN NUMBERS—COMING!

The seven production of "No, No, Nanette," will contain songs from the original stage show as well as many new numbers which have already attained great popularity since the recent release of this colorful National picture.

"Ten For Two" and "I Want To Be Happy" from the footlight production will be heard in the Vitaphone edition, sung by a chorus of 150 and the two featured leads, Bernice Claire and Alexander Gray.

These two songs were among the country's best sellers when "No, No, Nanette" was having its sensational success on Broadway.

The big number of the picture, however, is "King of the Air," by Constance Bennett and Al Bryan, one of Hollywood's most harmonious song-writing teams.

"THIS THING CALLED LOVE" SURE TO BE APPROVED BY ALL PICTURE LOVERS—MONDAY, TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY

The success "This Thing Called Love" attained on the speaking stage should insure a brilliant success for this smart Pathe comedy in dialogue picture form which comes to the Empress Theatre on Monday next.

Edmund Lowe and Constance Bennett are featured.

As a stage play it was one of the season's big successes. The amusing situations that have been worked out in this picture by the author, centering on the idea of a modern marriage in which the wife stipulates that she is to receive a salary and that neither wife nor husband is to be denied other lovers, provide a great deal of entertainment and much amusement.

Constance Bennett and Edmund Lowe head a brilliant cast. Miss Bennett plays the part of the wife. Lowe, as the husband who has just come from Peru where he spent fifteen years in mining ventures, is seeking a real home, but accepts this arrangement believing that he can arouse his wife's jealousy and win her over to the good old fashioned idea of married life.

Others in the cast include Zasu Pitts, Roscoe Karns, Ruth Taylor, Stuart Erwin and Carmelita Geraghty.

"THE VIRGINIAN" SCORES HIT—GARY COOPER IN TITLE ROLE—THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

With big city night life, metropolitan underworlds and the life behind the footlights furnishing a plethora of themes for audible moving pictures, it is a welcome interlude when an all-talking film such as "The Virginian" comes to town.

"The Virginian" is deserving of even more comparative praise, however. Its value as high type entertainment does not lie alone in the fact that it is different from the general run of pictures. Its value as entertainment lies in its own intrinsic worth as a talking picture, a reproduction of rich romance, epic drama and immortal humor.

Here is a picture that "gets you and holds you" as shown as you. It is a faithful reproduction in talking film of the renowned novel by Owen Wister and the play by Wister and Kirk La Shelle. That alone, should be recommendation enough for any doubting Thomas. Nearly everyone is familiar with the story.

In the medium of the all-talking screen the immortal characters of the Wister classic live and breathe. All the glamorous sounds of the great outdoors are faithfully reproduced. Cowboys yell as their herd is driven, bellowing, through a swift river. Ranchers chant their typical ditties under the stars by the campfire. Gun-toting cowboys bark their savage epithets. The lovers speak their hearts in the murmuring pine forest.

Add to this an ensemble of perfect character portrayals by Gary Cooper, Walter Huston, Richard Arlen, Mary Brian, Eugene Pallette and others, and you have a picture that is definitely a masterpiece in the new Show World of films that talk.

"The Virginian" opens at the Empress Theatre for a scheduled 3 day run. Nobody should miss it. It's simply great. Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

THOUSANDS HOMELESS IN TYPHOON—FOURTEEN
TOWNS ON ISLAND OF LEYTE
ARE LAID WASTE

Manila, April 21.—(A. P.)—Crippled communications today brought further evidence of the toll taken Friday by the destructive typhoon which swept over 14 towns of the island of Leyte, demolishing the communities of Tolosa and Dulag. Thousands were homeless and many believed dead or injured.

Official reports from the devastated region said a complete check could not be completed for a week or more, since many towns had been isolated, with telegraph wires down.

Governor De La Cruz, of Leyte, wired the United States Red Cross here, 48 hours after the typhoon struck: "Please secure immediate aid for thousands of homeless people, especially food, clothing and building materials."

He described coconut trees as standing like candles with their tops blowing off. The entire crop was destroyed, he said.

The Red Cross has taken action toward organizing the provincial forces of Leyte and Samar and arranged to send doctors, nurses and relief supplies on the first vessel from this port.

REGULAR MEETING MACLEOD TOWN COUNCIL

Monday night was regular meeting of the Macleod Town Council, when J. W. McDonald, K. C., the Mayor, presided. The councillors present were Messrs. Hoodless, Swinarton, Stevens, Tweed, Day and McLeod.

Lot 9 north, on the corner of 15th west, was offered to J. L. Fawcett for $25.00, the purchaser to pay cost of transfer.

G. Chivello made an offer of $100.00 an acre for the Fair Grounds. He also offered to erect weighing scales at the stock yards, he to buy the scales, if the Council would pay for erecting same. The matter of the works was referred to the Works and Property Committee. The sale was confirmed of lots 10-11-12 south, 15th Street east, to W. C. Downing for $15.00, the purchaser to pay cost of transfer. W. C. Downing also bought 50 acres east of the town, which was part of subdivisions, Mayfair, Rosedale and Vernon Parks, for $100.00 an acre; $100.00 cash, and $100.00 yearly at 6%.

W. C. Downing also bought the long open shed at the Fair Grounds for $75.00. Lot 10 N., 18th Street E., was sold to Mr. Alterman for $50.00, he to pay costs of transfer, also Mr. Alterman bought the booth and toilet at the Fair Grounds for $50.00. Robert McCrea bought the grand stand at the Fair Grounds for $50.00.

A letter was read from L. E. Trip on behalf of his mother, Mrs. M. E. Tripp, and Miss L. A. Wilson, objecting to the erection of the curling and skating rink opposite their property.

The monthly requisition from the public school was passed for $1,500. Also accounts as passed by the finance committee were authorized to be paid.

When next the Alberta government calls a provincial general election, there will be 63 seats to be contested, in place of the present 60 seats.

The legislature committee on redistribution, whose report was later adopted by an amendment to the Legislature Assembly act, established five new seats, and merged four existing seats into two, making the net gain of three seats.

Under the change, Edmonton and Calgary, which formerly had six seats each, got an additional seat each, giving the two cities seven representatives each. The recently created city of Drumheller has acquired legislative standing in keeping with its new civic dignities, and gets one of the new seats.

The formerly vast and extensive constituency of Peace River is divided into two parts, with the Peace itself as the boundary line, and new Peace River constituency now becomes that portion of the area only, which is north of the river.

South of the river, the constituency has been named Grande Prairie seat, in the centre of which he makes his home.

One other new seat adjacent to Edmonton-Clover Bldg. provides the fifth new constituency. The former small ridings of Okotoks and High River have been merged into a new riding with the hyphenated title of Okotoks-High River, and the same has been done with the old Nanton and Claresholm ridings, which now become the merged constituency of Nanton-Claresholm.

Many changes in boundaries were recommended by the committee, and adopted in the legislation passed by the house, and in general, members have agreed that the final result marks the best effort yet made by any redistribution committee, to deal fairly and equitably with what has always been a vexed question.

No enlargement of boundaries was necessary in the case of the two new seats in Edmonton and Calgary, but the seat for the third city, Drumheller, had to be carved out of parts of two ridings—Hand Hills and Bow Valley, the city itself being formerly in the Hand Hills constituency.

The new constituency of Clover Bldg. is composed of sections taken from the constituencies of Stony Plain, Leduc, Vegreville, Wainwright, Camrose and Victoria, while the new Peace River riding takes a portion from Athabasca. Similarly, the new Grande Prairie riding takes a portion from Grouard.

In general, the changes in constituency boundaries have been made in the northern and in the

MOUNTAIN VIEW LODGE No. 4,
I. O. O. F. VISITED BY GRAND LODGE OFFICERS

The members of Mountain View Lodge No. 4, I. O. O. F. were highly favored on Thursday night of last week in having the privilege of welcoming their regular meeting of the Grand Lodge officers.

These included Grand Master R. B. Morden, Lethbridge; Grand Marshal W. S. Crawford, Claresholm; Grand Chaplain C. A. Coutts, Claresholm; Grand Secretary F. A. Rogers, Lethbridge; Past Grand Master E. Forster Brown, Macleod; was also present. Bro. C. A. Coutts is also D.D.G.M. for District No. 7, which includes Macleod. There were also present from the Claresholm lodge the Noble Grand, Bro. Coutts, Jr.; Bro. Morrow, Farmer and Harrison.

The Grand Master, in an earnest, practical and interesting address, spoke of a number of visits which he has already made since assuming the responsible position of Grand Master, last February. He gave most encouraging reports of the visits and the efforts being put forth by some of the lodges to increase the interest in the lodge meetings and add new members.

He referred also to the splendid work being done by the Rebekah lodges and the assistance which the sisters had rendered to the subordinate lodges in many cases. Altogether the Grand Master's address was interesting and stimulating and should be an incentive to all the brothers present to take a deeper interest in the welfare of their lodges.

In concluding Bro. Morden spoke of the pleasure it had always given him to visit Mountain View Lodge, and it was doubly so on this occasion in the company of so many of the Grand Lodge officers.

The Grand Chaplain, Bro. Coutts, as District Deputy, spoke of the interesting visits he had paid to other lodges of district No. 7, and of the work being done in these lodges. Bro. Farmer, who is a veteran of 49 years' membership in the Order, had some very interesting things to tell of incidents which had taken place in the many years of his life as an Oddfellow.

All the visiting brothers from Lethbridge and Claresholm had a few words to say, and all voiced their pleasure at being present.

After the meeting the company sat down to an excellent luncheon prepared by the brothers of Mountain View No. 4, which was enjoyed by all present.

South-western ridings principally; many central Alberta and eastern ridings remain untouched.

Four sitting members are vitally affected by the merging of Okotoks-High River and Nanton-Claresholm; Hon. George Houldy, Sam Brown, D. H. Galbraith and G. B. Walker, respectively, all of whom are Farmers or members.

EASTER SERVICES IN MACLEOD CHURCHES

Crowded congregations were the feature of all the Easter Sunday services in the Macleod churches, special music being rendered by all the choirs, which from all reports was very highly appreciated by the large congregations.

Christ Church, Anglican—Sunday, "Easter Day," marked another inspiring experience in the history of this church. The early morning Communion Service at 8 o'clock was attended by a large number of the communicants, and the hush of the early morning ushered in an atmosphere which retained its influence the rest of the day. At the 11 o'clock service the church was filled to capacity, while almost 100 communicants received their consecration at Holy Communion.

This service was fully sung to a setting beautiful and rich, by Frank Adams, The Rector, Rev. F. Randall Powell, based his address on the words of St. Paul, "Death is swallowed up in Victory." Victory and triumph as discovered at the Sepulchre in Gethsemane's Garden being the chief note of his theme.

Miss Gwen Hilliard was at the organ, while Mrs. Cutler directed the musical part of the service. A pleasing feature of the morning service was the appearance of Christ Church group of C. G. I. T. holiday, limitation on sizes of sublimated in their white middie, the symbol of their order. Easter lilies, daffodils and ferns decorated the Holy Table, and were also seen in other corners of the church, loaned by the C. G. I. T. and other friends.

The evening service again witnessed a crowded church. Mrs. Webb, of Sutherland, S.A.S.K. (daughter of the Rector and Mrs. Powell) presided at the organ, and before the service rendered the voluntary, "Andante," by Le Mare, and the concluding voluntary was the "March Triumphant" by Scotson Clarke. After the third Collect, Mrs. Cutler sang in beautiful style, "I Gave My Life for Thee," to a setting by W. H. Jude, the fine, clear notes reaching the high octave with pure and superb beauty.

The subject of the Rector's address was "The Lord is Risen Again," and the Power of His Resurrection," at the close of which the choir sang the anthem "The Lord is Risen Again." With well balanced voices and a theme of inspiring grandeur the choir reached its highest point in the rendition of this most magnificent composition, and thus once again an Easter Day came to its conclusion, but one whose services at this church will long remain in the memory of those who were present.

At the Holy Cross Church the symbols of mourning which everywhere draped the Altar and Statues during Holy Week, reminding her people of the terrible tragedy of the agony and crucifixion of Jesus, gave place to the golden hues of the Priest's vestments, with lilies and roses decorating the Altar on Easter Morn, thus calling on the people to rejoice with the Church at the resurrection of the Lord. The strains of the Mass by "Battman" were jubilant as rendered by a full choir, Mrs. Burke and Mrs. Knox being soloists, while Mrs. L. D. Huntley presided at the organ. Father Ross preached a very forceful sermon from the text, "This is the Day the Lord has Made. Let Us Rejoice and be Glad." He drew a perfect picture in beautiful language of the resurrection, and what it meant to the Apostles and how it applied just as much to us today.

At St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Alex. Ferguson took as his morning subject, "The Assurance of Life," John 14-19, "Yet a Little While and the World Seeth Me No More, But Ye Shall See Me Because I Live Ye Shall Live Also." The points stressed in the message of Easter concerns Life. The passion for life is almost universal. One of the greatest truths connected with Easter is that life is continuous; there is no death—what seems so is only transition. Life possessed seeks self expression and is seen in inner power; an upward look; unfolding beauty, an eternal hope. The junior choir under the leadership of Miss Blossom Lyons rendered very beautifully the anthem, "The Hand That Was Wounded for Me," with Laura Hamilton taking the solo parts. Also the anthem "Calvary."

At the evening service the subject was "Daybreak Promises on a Dark Road," taken from 1st Cor. 15:17. Easter points to a new day; a new hope; light of knowledge; quietude of truth. Doubt leads to darkness. If Christ were not raised from the dead, very serious results would follow as a consequence, our preaching would be in vain, our faith would be in vain. There would be no forgiveness of sins, and those who had fallen asleep in Christ would have perished. But the testimony of history and of experience and of men and women whose lives were changed by the message of the gospel of a living Saviour, and all the great preachers of the past ages and present day bear living witness, also the resurrection of Christ from the dead. The choir under the able leadership of Mrs. C. G. Houldy, organist, gave a very full program of Easter music, which was rendered in splendid style and which included Easter hymns and three anthems, viz. "There is a green hill far away" with Mrs. B. Eckmire, contralto and Mrs. D. Smith-Jones, soprano, taking the solos; "The Magdalene" and "They have taken away my Lord."

Easter services in the Macleod churches were attended by large crowds both in the morning and evening. The former, a combined service of church and church school, was unusually impressive. Besides the usual service, a promotion class entered the intermediate department, from the primary, received their diplomas, and were welcomed.

NAVAL PACT IS SIGNED IN LONDON—FIVE POWERS
ADOPT PLAN TO LIMIT
NAVIES—SIGNATURES ARE
AFFIXED TO HISTORIC DOCUMENT IN LONDON

London, April 22.—(A.P.)—Coming to the end of their long road, the delegates of the great five naval powers shortly after noon today affixed their signatures to an historic treaty limiting and reducing the navies of three of them and placing certain restrictions upon the sea forces of the other two.

The conference adjourned at 1:18 p. m. The treaty limits and reduces the navies of Great Britain, the United States and Japan, and sets restrictions on those of France and Italy.

The adjournment came after three months and one day of long negotiation; during many times the treaty seemed on the edge of almost complete failure.

The treaty signed definitely limits the navies, in all categories, of Great Britain, United States and Japan, and provides reduction in ships already under construction in at least one category, capital ships. France and Italy could not compose their differences, and so today adhered only to other sections of the pact, which, important enough in themselves, prescribe a capital ship holiday, limitation on sizes of submarines, humanization of their use, and record agreement on other technical phases of the conference work.

Miss Gwen Hilliard was at the organ, while Mrs. Cutler directed the musical part of the service. A pleasing feature of the morning service was the appearance of Christ Church group of C. G. I. T. holiday, limitation on sizes of sublimated in their white middie, the symbol of their order. Easter lilies, daffodils and ferns decorated the Holy Table, and were also seen in other corners of the church, loaned by the C. G. I. T. and other friends.

TALKING ABOUT PEACE

There is altogether too much talk, says Benito Mussolini, about peace these days.

The Italian premier, beetling his brows in the true strongman tradition, is vexed. He tells his subjects that it is idle to talk about peace; that there are crises in international affairs when there is no way out but war, and that only fools will suppose that talking will remedy matters.

It is quite true that more has been said and written about peace in the last year than in the whole decade preceding it. You cannot pick up any newspaper or magazine without reading some appeal for peace.

The question, however, is this—just how much good is all of this talking and writing going to do? Are we really bringing world peace nearer? Or is Mussolini right? Will there presently come a time when all of our fair words will be blown away and we shall plunge frantically into another war, as we have in the past? The answer, of course, is—it's up to us. We can have continued peace if we really want it. War is never "inevitable." It is never, as Mussolini says, the only practical way out of a difficulty.

Consider, for instance, the situation in 1914. Looking back, it seems almost incredible that the war should have begun as it did. Nobody wanted it. Surely, no one will contend that the murder of an Austrian archduke by a Serbian fanatic made it necessary for all of Europe to go to war.

The foreign offices of the nations involved, however, were cursed with the presence of a number of gentlemen who had Mussolini's idea—the idea that war is the only way of settling a dispute between nations. So war came; and the world paid, for the blindness of those statesmen, some 5,000,000 young lives.

Now, eleven years after the close of that war, the world is talking about peace. And die-hards of the old school, like Mussolini, are successful. They are trying to tell us that we are doomed, forever, to go on blundering from one catastrophe to another.

If we are wise, we will go on talking about peace; talking about it, in season and out of season, until the closed minds of the Mussolini's of this world are cracked open and a little daylight seeps in to enlighten them.

We can have everlasting peace if we want it. And the only way to prove that we want it is to keep talking about it.

CHILDREN OF "INFERIORS"

Once again a serious surveyor of the social scene has made the discovery that poor people have more babies than rich people.

Dr. Henry D. Chapin, writing in the Review of Reviews, points out that "everywhere the poorest and least efficient have the largest families."

The worthy doctor adds that it is quality and not quantity that is desired in the human race, and says that "the fecundity of the inferior classes should be discouraged."

For a good many years, complaints such as this have been voiced recurrently. And, on the surface, they seem justified. It seems rather obvious that a child brought up by educated parents who have ample means to give him good medical care and a complete education, will make a much better citizen than a child born in the slums or on a run-down farm, with parents who are forever pressed by poverty.

Yes, it seems obvious. But it doesn't work out that way.

It certainly is natural and human to wish that all children might have as many advantages and pleasures as possible. It makes our hearts ache to think of youngsters who have to think about earning their livings before they are out of short breeches. Yet the world seems to be so constituted that a certain amount of hardship is necessary for the development of strength. Nature is quite calloused and hard-boiled about it. Hardiness comes only from combat.

The list of men who, by force of character and ability, have helped shape the course of history is a long one; and if you will examine it, you will find that most of the names are names of men who were born to this lamentable found "inferior class" that Dr. Chapin speaks about.

Genius is not something that can be foreseen in advance, and it does not appear where you might expect. A baby born in a back-alley kitchen or a frontier log cabin is quite as apt to have it as a baby born in a mansion. It is not without significance that the phrase "front log cabin to White House" is a byword in the United States. The boy who has to fight for everything he gets is sure to develop to the utmost all of his latent capacities; the boy whose early battles are fought for him is not.

Let's stop worrying about birth rates among the rich and the poor. They have always been just about as they are now. If the world were to be wrecked thereby it would have been wrecked long ago.

GOING PLACES IN A HURRY

An aerial route linking Montreal with Paris is projected. It would take the Arctic circle, making four stops on the water trip. Planes will cover the distance in 48 hours, according to predictions.

Speed is the watchword of transportation. Its increase in this century has been phenomenal. But with speed increases has come an equally remarkable drive for safety. The German liner Europa crossed the ocean in a little more than four days and a half. That is faster than a steam liner has ever crossed before. Yet she is almost unsinkable. And her feat will be rivalled and beaten by others to come. Five nations are competing for the new mark.

At the same time railroads constantly speed up schedules. Canadian lines have been doing it every year, so consistently that it has nearly ceased to be news. United States railroads clip an hour or so off the runs from Chicago to the coast. Eastern railways are doing the same. Yet it is notable that truck ballast and improvement precedes the inauguration of higher speeds.

Speed with proportionate safety is an achievement. Speed without it is an illusion, for resultant accidents and loss of life and property more than offset the gain.

But this mania for speed is actuated by more than a desire to save time. It is a greater urge than that. It is a translation of man's instinctive neighborliness. It is a craving for closer contact. And closer contact means closer understanding.

Most of all, it is the instinctive urge, in every one of us from childhood, to do something that no one else has done, or to do it in a new way. There is no "well enough" for such an instinct. Records are made only to be broken. If allowed to stand they lose interest.

And so we progress. Modern triumphs become obsolete in a few years. They are discarded. That means loss in one sense, gain in another. Thus two highly specialized qualities are essential, to acquire and to discard. It is difficult to say which demands the more science.

CANADIAN GARDEN SERVICE 1930

Peas

The garden pea is one of our most popular vegetables, but unfortunately in most cases we only have a few weeks before the season is over. This situation can be remedied to a very large extent by planting much earlier than usual. In recent years, market gardeners and commercial growers have found that they can plant peas much earlier than they used to consider possible, and that this early planting results in larger and longer cropping. Generally speaking, the first of the garden peas can be sown just as soon as the ground works up nicely. Some of the very best results have been obtained where the seed was put in before the last snowstorm. In fact, many commercial growers will tell you that unless you get your peas in early enough to receive a snowfall or two, the crop will not be large. All the pea family makes its best growth during the cool weather, and the garden pea is no exception. To obtain the maximum yield and the longest season, that is to have your peas coming in to the table for a month instead of a few days, select at least three types, the earliest sort, a medium one, and a late one. Then, just as soon as the ground works up nicely, put in about one quarter of each packet, or possibly it would be better to put in half of the earliest variety and a quarter of each of the other two. A week later, sow the remainder of the early peas and a quarter of the medium and the late varieties. In another week or ten days, sow another quarter of the medium and late and about this performance a week later. This will give you a supply of peas which should last from the very earliest part of the season until the very last, and in favorable locations and a good year, this will mean a season of close to a month. Peas like rich, open soil, plenty of cultivation, moisture and fertilizer. They may be grown between rows of later maturing vegetables such as corn, tomatoes, cabbages and parsnips, and they will be out of the way before the others require full room. With those peas which grow to a height of twelve to eighteen inches, it is a good plan to plant in double rows, that is two rows about fifteen inches apart with twenty-four to thirty inches space between the double rows. The vines, when planted in this way, will help to support each other.

Annual Flowers

Annual flowers might be employed much more largely to improve home surroundings and supply bouquets for indoor decoration, according to W. S. Blair, of the Dominion Experimental Farms. They are easy to grow, he says, and will do well in almost any garden soil. With a few exceptions, they may be sown in the open ground in early Spring, as soon as the soil can be prepared. If a good stand of plants results, thin to about six inches apart. Group planting in borders, in at the base of shrubbery, rather than formal layouts is advised and this will require less work, and will give a more pleasing effect. Those sorts suitable for cut flowers should be planted in rows in the vegetable garden so that there will be an ample supply of bloom for this purpose, and the regular beds will not be disfigured. For edging, Sweet Alyssum, Little Dorrit, and Candytuft (white); Tagetes signata pumila (yellow), and Lobelia, Crystal Palace Gem, and Dwarf Ageratum Blue Star (blue) are very satisfactory. Of the everlasting, Helichrysum (strawflower), Ageratum, Globe Amaranth, (Goniprena), and Statice are the best. For cut flowers, as well as for general planting, the snapdragon (antirrhinum) is one of the best. It is usually started inside. The annual single chrysanthemum and the double variety Bridal Rose are both good. Coreopsis Drummondii and C. tinctoria are two of the best; these may be seeded outside. Cosmos should be more extensively grown. The annual larkspur may be seeded outside, as well as gypsophila, gaillardia, lavatera, scabiosa, sweet sultan, bachelor's buttons, Shirley or other poppies, Shizanthus, Nemesis, Nigella, Sunflowers in variety, mignonne, nasturtium, Swan River daisy, African daisy (Dimorphotheca), calendula, China and Indian pinks (dianthus) Lupine, Eschscholtzia and Salpiglossis.

First Vegetables

Vegetables, like spinach, lettuce, radish, and peas are among the first to be harvested, but there is no reason why they should be confined to the early part of the season as is so often the case. By using an early, medium and late type of each one and even sowing all at the same time, one will have a much longer season than usual, but if only a portion of each packet is sown the first week, and the remainder at intervals of a week for a month, we would have a longer season still. Head lettuce should be sown in boxes or hotbeds by this time to be ready to transplant into permanent quarters as soon as it is safe to do so. Many gardeners refuse to bother with headless head lettuce any longer and have taken to the Cos variety. This grows upright, with long leaves which enclose the heart, and it is self-blanching. A little tying up will hasten the process. The new spinaches, which will grow and grow without going to seed are a big advance over the old types. They give a bigger and better supply of leaves and some can be cut down to within an inch of the ground and will grow up again. White Portugal and any of the Globe varieties are now popular. Onions and can be easily grown from seed. These may be sown green or for pickling. All vegetables must be grown quickly if they are to be crisp when brought to the table. A check in growth makes them tough. To prevent such an occurrence, especially when the weather is inclined to be cool, it is well to apply some quickly available fertilizer.

Asparagus

Asparagus is easy to grow and once established furnishes a supply of delicious vegetable which is worth real money when one goes out to buy it. For a small bed, it is best to buy two-year old roots, but in the average-sized garden the most economical way is to start the plantation from seed. The Washington variety is generally conceded the best. A bed may be established in three years from seed, and in two from roots. The seed should be soaked in warm water for twenty four hours before planting and sown in drills outside as soon as the ground can be worked, as it is rather slow to germinate. The plants should be allowed to grow in the seed row for a season, and the following season the strongest and straightest shoots should be selected to form the bed. The plants should be spaced two feet apart in rows four feet apart, or three feet each way.

Testing the Soil

Serious results are sure to follow the working of the soil too soon. Let the ground become dry, if necessary work off your fever on indoor planting or indoor plantings. It is a simple thing to test whether the soil is ready or not. All that is necessary is to take up a handful and squeeze. If it compacts into a lump in the hand, it is too wet to work but if on the contrary, it crumbles when squeezed it is probably in just the right condition for working.

The liquor problem, fortunately, is like a dog flea. The fleas are annoying, but he doesn't notice them when he's after a rabbit. If you think the feminine influence isn't dominant, try to find a man sitting on his front porch in a red flannel shirt.

Aunt Nellie's Way

It was Aunt Nellie who first suggested feeding "The Terrible Three" with Nestlé's Evaporated Milk. No longer are they nervous and irritable. Regular, romping rascals now!

And here's the Reason! Nestlé's Evaporated Milk is just the best of fresh cow's milk with part of the water removed—then sealed and sterilized in airtight containers. Add water again and you have absolutely pure, safe milk—but more readily digestible than ordinary milk because the large fat globules of the milk have been broken up into small ones of the same size as in Mother's milk. Also, the curds which form in the stomach when Nestlé's Evaporated Milk is used are soft and flaky and therefore easily digestible.

Use Nestlé's Evaporated Milk for Your Baby. Use it in coffee—in cocoa—in tea. Use it in all cooking as a beverage by diluting with one to two parts water.

The nightmare of the Sow Thistle

Speaking in Toronto last year the Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, former Prime Minister of Canada, said: "It is nothing but a fantasy to talk about rural prosperity until this cloud, this nightmare of the Sow Thistle, is worsted and exterminated." Practical farmers, agricultural colleges and weed authorities throughout Canada support this statement. If Canadian Agriculture is to thrive a country-wide war on the Sow Thistle and other malignant weeds must be undertaken at once.

"IT IS THE WORST EVIL that ever afflicted the farmer—worse than hail, rust, drouth, and wet harvest combined—and then some."

These words, written by a prominent Manitoba farmer, express the attitude of all who have had crops infested with that most noxious of farm weeds—the Sow Thistle.

Since 1910 noxious weeds have robbed Canadian farmers of hundreds of millions of dollars. During that period the loss through weeds would probably have discharged the mortgage indebtedness of Canadian farms. In many cases weeds have driven men off their land.

Will you escape that fate? The only way to make sure is by planning a systematic weed extermination campaign NOW. Determine to clean up at least one field every year. By doing so you will finally rid your farm of weeds—and the cost will be returned over and over in better crops and greatly increased profits.

The obvious way to tackle this urgent work is by adopting the methods of those who have successfully fought weeds. To help you do this Imperial Oil is compiling a book that describes the experiences of men who have devoted years of study to the problem.

This book—"Weed Control"—is edited by the Honorable Duncan Marshall, former Minister of Agriculture for Alberta, and contains contributions from practical farmers, agricultural colleges and weed authorities in all parts of Canada. It is a companion volume to "Field and Farm Yard" which was published last year and is now in the hands of 65,000 farmers. "Weed Control" will be delivered free to you on request. The No. 8 Little Genius Tractor Plow is built in 2, 3 and 4-furrow sizes. The 2 and 3-furrow plows can be supplied with 12 or 14-inch bottoms. The 4-furrow is obtainable with 14-inch bottoms only. We carry a full line of the standard P & O bottoms for the No. 8 Little Genius.

Why does an egg float in salt water and not in fresh water? Because salt water is a little heavier than fresh water. The volume of fresh water which the egg displaces weighs a little less than the egg, so the egg sinks.

A spring-trip hitch on a tractor plow is like an insurance policy. They both protect you against loss. The hitch on the McCormick-Deering No. 8 Little Genius is a spring-trip type and it comes as regular equipment. Many plows do not come equipped with this essential device. The spring-trip will protect you against damage to the beams or bottoms should a hidden root or stone be encountered.
